

Databases

The library databases are online collections of journal articles and other documents on various subjects.

Where can I find them?

Go to library.gmit.ie to search databases.

- Most of the library databases are searchable using the Search + Find box on the library website. That's the first search box you see. When you find the article or document you want, click on its title. This will bring you into the database where you can view or print the article.
- You can also use the databases search button on the library website to go directly to a specific database.

Which databases should I search?

These are some of our most popular tourism databases. The ones marked with this symbol 🔍 are searchable using the Search + Find box on the library website. This means that you can search more than one database at a time.

Ebooks

- An ebook is a book that is available to read or download online.
- Search for ebooks at library.gmit.ie

Journals

Journals, like magazines, are published on a regular basis. They contain articles written by experts in a particular field of study and are an excellent source of up-to-date information.

Find journals on the shelves...

We have a small collection of journals on the library shelves, but most of our journals are available online. You'll find printed journals on the current journal shelves (Ground Floor near the stairs). Go to library.gmit.ie to search for journals and find their shelf number.

Find journals online...

The quickest way to find journal articles is online.

- Go to library.gmit.ie to search for journal articles.
- Use the E-journals search button to find specific journals.

Theses

A thesis is a long essay on a particular subject. Theses written by GMIT students are held at the Library Desk on the Ground Floor.

Newer theses will soon be available to view online on the library website.

Exam papers

- Go to library.gmit.ie to view and print exam papers.
- Exam papers are also available on the Ground Floor of the library.
